Training information: This 4-hour in-person program was specifically designed for maternal-infant healthcare providers. In a fast-paced format, this course focuses on the healthcare provider's role in providing infant feeding information and support to pregnant and new families. It is designed to help hospitals and communities provide the basics of early breastfeeding care, with many common-sense, practical strategies, based on scientific evidence. This program provides strategies for implementing the Ten Steps to Successful Breastfeeding and fulfills the education requirements of the Baby-Friendly Hospital Initiative.

This training is brought to you by: Public Health Seattle & King County's WIC and Nutrition program through a DOH grant "Partnering for Breastfeeding Success"
